Description of Fellowship

One-year program following a diagnostic pediatric radiology fellowship, integrated IR/DR residency, or independent adult IR fellowship. We perform a broad range of procedures in a very busy quaternary care hospital caring for local, regional, and international patients ranging in age from children to young adults. Institutional multidisciplinary programs specializing in oncology, transplant, and vascular anomalies are integral to our program. Our IR department has three state-of-the-art dedicated IR suites and a hybrid operating room equipped with an additional state-of-the-art IR system. An animal research IR facility, the Interventional Radiology Translational Research and Simulation Lab (IR-TRSL), supports the clinical program, enables skills training, and provides educational and clinical translational research opportunities https://www.cincinnatichildrens.org/research/cores/ir-trsl
